The Caspian Pipeline Consortium (CPC) has transported eight million tons of crude oil to world markets through its pipeline system from the Tengiz oil field in Kazakhstan to the Marine Terminal near Novorossiisk.

The eight millionth ton of crude oil was loaded today on the tanker Astro Sirius, chartered by ChevronTexaco. The Astro Sirius is the 80th tanker to be on-loaded since the first tanker, the Minerva Alexandra, which started the comprehensive testing phase of CPC-R's Marine Terminal on October 13, 2001.
