GENERAL VESSEL INFORMATION:

Preliminary analysis using the aerial photographs and the underwater survey of the vessel indicated that fissure damage and failure in the main deck plating adjacent to grain-loading ports near the mid-length of the "FLARE" may have existed prior to the hull failure. The TSB identified 14 vessels of similar age and built to the same plans that were believed to be still in service and that could be subject to similar defects. The vessels identified were:.....China 7125938 16,663 "HENG CHUN HAI".....
