Genoa-based Premuda is back in the market and in a mood to shop.

Broking sources have revealed to Splash that the Pillarstone-controlled company, now headed by Marco Fiori, is behind the $16.1m acquisition of 2009-built medium range tanker High Efficiency just sold by DM Shipping, a joint venture between d'Amico International Shipping and Mitsubishi.

For Premuda the deal represents the beginning of a new era since the company was financially rescued two years ago by the KKR-controlled fund Pillarstone. After an initial phase of stability, the company had signalled intentions to invest to increase its fleet.
