Putin nationalises box line Fesco and eyes NSR development

Russian container shipping line Fesco has been nationalised – Russian president Vladimir Putin signed a decree on Friday, transferring ownership to state nuclear power entity Rosatom.

Rosatom CEO Alexey Likhachev said the move would help Russia develop shipping along the Northern Sea Route (NSR).

Fesco's previous owner, Russian billionaire Ziyavudin Magomedov, was last year convicted of organised crime and embezzlement charges, jailed for 19 years and had all his assets seized. He is appealing the conviction and sentence.
